

BELHAVEN
UNIVERSITY
Our Standard is Christ

Belhaven University, formerly Belhaven College, is a Christian liberal arts university dedicated to excellence in Christian higher education. Situated in the heart of one of Jackson's most beautiful historic neighborhoods, Belhaven offers a residential campus within minutes of fine dining, good shopping, and a thriving arts community. At Belhaven, a long-standing history of excellence dates back to the College's founding in 1883. Dr. Roger Parrott, President of the College, carries on Belhaven's rich legacy with a Christian curriculum centered on the biblical worldview. This unique Worldview Curriculum seamlessly intertwines history, literature, art, music, and philosophy into a chronological core curriculum for all incoming freshmen and sophomores.

Belhaven University has received national recognition for its academic programs and affordability, and the College has earned regional Accreditation by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Furthermore, Belhaven is one of just 30 schools in the U.S. to be nationally accredited in all four of the arts: dance, music, theatre, and visual art.

Offering 27 undergraduate majors and a 12:1 student to faculty ratio for the traditional undergraduate program, Belhaven provides a close-knit learning community where students see the college's vision and mission lived out in the lives of faculty members. For non-traditional, working adults, Belhaven also offers adult and graduate degree programs in Jackson, as well as in Houston, Orlando, and Memphis. Accredited online degree programs are also available for students who desire distance learning with a Christian curriculum.

EWI of Jackson's Program Director for 2009-2010

Suzanne Sullivan has been with Belhaven since 2000. She began her career in college admission in 1992 as an admission counselor at Bethel College in McKenzie, TN. She moved to Union University as assistant director of admission in 1997. She was hired by Belhaven in 2000 as their Director of Admission. Since that time she has served as the president of the Mississippi Association for Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers. She has also received the Regional Service Award from the North American Coalition for College Admission Professionals.

She and her husband James live in Madison and attend Broadmoor Baptist Church. They are proud parents of a Jack Russell named Louey. They enjoy traveling, movies, and entertaining friends. Suzanne also enjoys reading, music, and shopping.

Suzanne has previously served on the EWI board as Sergeant at Arms and Publication and currently as Program Director.
